YOUNG PEOPLE AND MULTILATERALISM

Intern Networking & Career Inspiration

Why are interns and young people important to the future of multilateralism? And how can interns in the UN system make the most of their experience, contribute their skills and knowledge, and find career opportunities in the multilateral system? This session will feature insightful discussions, intern networking opportunities, reflections and practical advice from former interns who are currently working in the UN system.

Objectives of the event:

- Explore why young people are critical to the future of multilateralism
- Learn from former UN interns about their experiences and get their honest advice on how to make the most of a multilateral career
- Learn from other interns through time for networking and discussion
- Discover a range of digital resources on multilateralism available at the UN Library & Archives Geneva.
