WHO

At the main reception you can get your badge for the day. Room E110

Wifi at WHO

If you are a WHO mobile user:

WHO-managed mobile users are automatically connected to the WHOMOBILE network, allowing users to access their WHO mailbox and the public intranet while on campus.

While queuing in the bank or café within HQ premises, you can now access your calendar. You don't need to return to your desktop to confirm your appointments; you can do it on the go!

If you are a staff or visitor using private device:

Anyone with a smart phone, laptop, or mobile device that is enabled for WIFI can access #WHOWIFI network while on the WHO premises. This open network allows private device users to access personal emails, both outgoing and incoming, and the public intranet.

Visitors invited to WHO conferences can access their private emails, send out meeting notes via outgoing emails, or access public features like Skype and intranet using personal devices.
