

COLLABORATION TO ADVANCE EDUCATION FOR DISPLACED POPULATIONS:

The Vital Partnership of Faith-Based, Civil Society, and Government Organizations

September 17th | 10:00–12:00 | Palais des Nations, Room XXIV

Education is fundamental to the human, social, and economic development of displaced populations as they rebuild their lives and integrate into new societies. Faith-based organizations play a crucial role with civil society and government organizations in contributing to Sustainable Development Goal 4 (ensuring quality education and promoting lifelong learning). This collaboration to provide quality education for displaced populations does much to foster self-reliance, reduce extremism, and build the capacity for health and practical success in the next generation.
