

23RD INTERNATIONAL MEETING OF
MINE ACTION
NATIONAL DIRECTORS AND
UNITED NATIONS ADVISERS

The NDM-UN is the annual meeting during which mine action stakeholders from national governments and the UN community meet to discuss emerging issues and exchange best practices and lessons learned. Main themes this year include: linkages between mine action and the environment; sustainable mainstreaming of diversity in mine action; the use of technology and digital engagement in risk education campaigns; regional approaches to mine action; opportunities of mainstreaming mine action into development; partnerships in humanitarian emergencies; and multi-stakeholder and non-traditional partnerships for collective solutions to the threat of improvised explosive devices. The rich side event agenda will offer opportunities to focus on national case studies and best practices, and to go deeper into thematic mine action discussions, as well as to explore innovative approaches and solutions to the most pressing challenges facing the mine action sector today.

SIDE EVENTS

WEDNESDAY 12 FEBRUARY 11:45 - 13:00

- Libya: The Toxic and Explosive Legacy of Modern Conflict

Room XXIV

Since 2011, the Libyan population has expressed concerns regarding the hazards posed by large bulk stocks of liquid missile fuels. These are a legacy of the older, Soviet-era Air Defence capabilities in Libya. The sites lack security, and necessary maintenance, and there is a need for a strategy by which to effectively, safely and permanently destroy these stocks, in an environmentally acceptable way. The disposal of liquid-fuelled strategic missile systems poses a number of technical and environmental challenges. UNMAS has engaged with Libyan Authorities and member states to develop a plan for decommissioning the complete missile systems.

Speakers:

Mr. Lance Malin, Chief, UNMAS Libya (Chair)

Ms. Julie Myers, Senior Programme Officer, UNMAS Libya

Mr. Bob Seddon, Threat Mitigation Manager, UNMAS Libya

- Launch of the SMART IED Threat Mitigation Technology Roadmap (SMITMiTR)

Room XXV

SMITMiTR is a dynamic platform that compiles and shares the latest generic information on IED threats and on the technology available to mitigate those threats. SMITMiTR is an innovative interactive platform that will categorize IED threats, identify technologies that can help to create standards in pursuit of smart solutions to mitigate threats. The real strength of SMITMiTR lies in shared knowledge, cross-referenced data and coordinated actions among the partners involved. SMITMiTR is a smart solution to dangerous problems.

During this launch of the platform, procedures to participate - including accessing, adding and sharing information – will be explained and user accounts can be created.

Speakers:

IED Threat Mitigation Advisory Team, UNMAS

SIDE EVENTS

WEDNESDAY 12 FEBRUARY 13:15 - 14:45

- Iranian Humanitarian Mine Action Activities

Room XXIV

The Mine Action Center of the Islamic Republic of Iran (IRMAC) will present the Iranian Humanitarian Mine Action Activities including: humanitarian clearance, detecting, neutralization and destruction of ERWs, mine victims and mine risk education/risk awareness.

Speakers:

Mr. Meisam Rahmani, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran (Chair)

Mr. Mehdi Pournabgher, IRMAC

Mr. Mehrdad Pahlevani, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Islamic Republic of Iran

Mr. Farhad Arabpoor, Weapon contamination coordinator, ICRC Iran

- Risk education in the Oslo Action Plan: From Vision to Reality

Room XXV

Over the last year, there has been significant momentum around the risk education pillar of mine action, with growing recognition that risk education efforts must be stepped up to protect civilians from the threats of explosive ordnance. Through an interactive group discussion format, this side event will look at how we can strengthen protection through explosive ordnance risk education (EORE) and translate the commitments made in Oslo into action. Topics will include IED risk education, digital EORE technologies, EORE training needs, EORE impact assessment and integration of EORE with broader protection, development and education efforts.

Moderation: Mr. Sebastian Kasack, MAG; Ms. Kaitlin Hodge, GICHD

Individual Group Facilitators: National Directors

- Environmental Impact and Climate Change Adaptation in Mine Action

Room XXVII

Managing the environmental aspects of mine action operations is critical to ensure that operations do no harm and that they provide socio-economic development opportunities for local communities after clearance. While landmines and other types of explosives can negatively impact the environment, clearance can also have negative consequences on local environmental security through physical damage to agricultural areas and natural resources as well as through the environmental footprint of clearance operations. This session will identify the opportunities, challenges, and specific tools for improved integration and mainstreaming of environment and climate change into mine action operations.

Speakers:

Ms. Kendra Dupuy, Senior Advisor Environment, NPA (Co-chair)

Ms. Linsey Cottrell, Environment Policy Officer, Conflict and Environment Observatory (Co-chair)

Mr. David Hewitson, Operations Director, Fenix Insight

Mr. Olaf Juergensen, Development and Mine Action Specialist, UNDP

Mr. Roland Evans, Advisor, Land Release, Operational Efficiency and Training Development, GICHD

Mr. James Cowan, Chief Executive, The HALO Trust

Ambassador Prum Sophakmonkol, Cambodian Mine Action Authority, Secretary-General and Project Director, CFRIII, Cambodia

SIDE EVENTS

WEDNESDAY 12 FEBRUARY 15:00 - 16:15

- South Sudan - Achieving Article Five compliance, and Delivering a Long Term Solution

Room XXIV

South Sudan will present on the current status of contamination and the progress that has been made since independence in 2011, as well as the plans to complete clearance by 2026. The briefing will present the clearance plan that is outlined in its five-year APMBBC extension request. Additionally, the presentation will touch on the national strategy and the projected transition to national ownership of the programme.

Speakers:

Mr. Henry Okwera, Director General of the South Sudan National Mine Action Authority, South Sudan
Mr. Richard Boulter, Senior Programme Manager, UNMAS South Sudan
Mr. Llewelyn Jones, Director of Programmes, Mines Advisory Group
Ms. Åsa Massleberg, Advisor, Strategic Management, GICHD

- Meeting the Challenge Together: Advancing Gender & Diversity in Project Implementation

Room XXV

This session will focus on UNOPS' efforts towards advancing gender and diversity through its implementation support to UNMAS field programmes. Specifically, the session will address the challenges and lessons learned UNOPS has faced through its gender and diversity parity and mainstreaming endeavors in human resources and procurement. Experience and reflections from implementing partners and thought leaders will also be conveyed in an effort to provide a holistic overview which all participants can draw upon to benefit their work in the mine action sector.

Speakers:

Ms. Talitha Dowds, Special Assistant to the Director of UNOPS Peace & Security Cluster (Moderator)

Mr. Khalid Jabbar, Director General of the Iraq Directorate of Mine Action

- A Mine-Free World by 2025: The Need for Innovation

Room XXV

The marriage between innovative solutions and land release is not that simple. However, it can also be an extremely valuable ally in the commitment to a mine-free world by 2025. This event will share lessons learned from the field, including on the use of Unmanned Aerial Vehicles (a.k.a. drones), and in doing so, underlines the importance of allocating funds for innovation to ensure that people's needs for safety and access to land are met with the shortest possible delay.

Speakers:

Mr. Sigurd Schelstraete, Director of Disarmament and Non-Proliferation Department, Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Belgium (Chair)

General Brahim Djibrine Brahim, Coordinator, National High Commission for Demining, Chad

Ms. Wendi Pedersen, GIS Solutions Advisor, GICHD

Mr. John Fardoulis, UAV Expert and Project Partner, Mobility Robotics

Mr. Xavier Depreytere, Innovation Project Manager, Humanity & Inclusion

- Accident and Incident Reporting Requirements: A Burden or an Essential Learning Tool

Room XXVII

GICHD and JMU have started looking into better, more efficient and more effective ways of collecting, analyzing, storing and disseminating data on accidents and incidents in Mine Action, worldwide. This side event will enable a wider panel discussion, involving operators, academia, national authorities and other relevant partners, which will be beneficial to the sector, raising awareness about the importance of timely and accurate reporting of work related accidents and incidents.

Speakers:

Dr. Suzanne Fiederline, JMU (Chair)

Mr. David Hewitson, Fenix Insight

Ms. Heather Holsinger, JMU

Mr. Stanislav Damjanovic, GICHD

Dr. Jonathan Williams, HALO Trust
